Terrace Banners – Women’s World Cup 2019

As part of its transformation in 2019 the National Football Museum has created space for a number of banners to hang in the Pitch Gallery, a large area at the entrance of the Museum, and the start of our visitors’ journey.

The National Football Museum would like to commission an artist to produce banners, in any medium, exploring the subject of the Women’s World Cup for installation and display at the museum during the FIFA Women’s World Cup tournament 2019.

The banners, which should reflect the National Football Museum’s women’s football collection and our aim to increase representation of women in football, should visually engage our visitors with the subject, and encourage them to see other objects on display from the women’s game.

The artist will be required to produce a minimum of four banners whose size will be approximately 1150mm high and between 2400mm and 4560mm wide.

The artist will work in partnership with the NFM exhibitions, curatorial and digital team and assist in the production of digital content to support the installation.

A photograph of the current banner display within the museum’s Pitch Gallery is attached to this brief.
